

Ceferino "Nino" Anchondo

Nino Anchondo has been a true life-long yellow dog Democrat. He has been a civic and political activist since age 5, when he assisted his father in organizing the labor unions for the AF of L at Asarco and the mines in Silver City, New Mexico. He also assisted in establishing the AFL-CIO when they joined forces. All this under the Democratic banner.

Since that time, Nino provided valuable assistance, not to mention sweat, to the campaigns of such icons as Kennedy, Johnson, Yarbrough, Coldwell, MacAlmon. His association with Labor proved invaluable in Democratic politics. He was a precinct chair for 8 terms and assisted in forming Mexican American Democrats.

Nino continues to be a Yellow Dog Democrat. He is well known for his election day work for 50 years, and for his generous political contributions.
