

Susan Kathryn Sheldon could give blood transfusions to the Democratic donkey. I believe our esteemed political mascot could learn a thing or two from our Suzie. With every fiber of her being Suzie believes in the Democratic Party and all that it stands for. She keeps herself current on all the political news and has never been shy about sharing what she has learned. She will write letters to the editor, walk precincts, and talk with voters face-to-face. Here in El Paso we know her voice from her calls to the local radio talk shows, both liberal and conservative. Once, she even got through to have a little chat with Rush Limbaugh! Needless to say, Rush was NOT impressed. During particularly heated campaigns, Suzie has been observed stuffing publicity packets all morning and carrying campaign signs all afternoon. She has faced rain, snow and sometimes even blatant ignorance. She is undaunted. She is a lady on a mission!
